LOCALIZATION

The Instituto Superior de Administração e Línguas is located in a highly touristic area, in Madeira. Madeira Archipelago is situated in the Atlantic Ocean, 500km distant from Africa, 1000km from the European Continent, and only 1h30m air flight from Lisbon.

Madeira Archipelago also connects itself to the world by an air bridge which gathers hundreds of flights. The Madeira International Airport and the Porto Santo Airport are a point of arrival and departure of several international air companies.

With a unique geographical position and a peculiar orography, Madeira Island presents a mild climate with very soft average temperatures and a moderate humidity. The average temperature in the summer is 23°C and 17°C in the winter. On the other hand, the average sea temperature in the summer is 22°C and 18°C in the winter due to the Hot Gulf Stream.

Madeira Island is equally famous for its nice and kind people, for the beauty of its landscapes and for the natural patrimony, namely the Laurissilva Forest, classified by UNESCO as a World Natural Heritage. Funchal is the capital of Madeira Autonomous Region, being the ninth most populated town in all Portugal. This town is 76,25 km² and has around 100 000 inhabitants. It subdivides itself into 10 parishes.
