The Legend of Banica and His Wife

Once upon a time there was a Master in a town by the lake. His name was Banica. He lived in a castle by the beautiful lake. He had an owl and many wife. She helped poor people and wouldn't give them old bread pieces.

God punished him for his behavior. One day, a huge storm came from the sea. The land shook and a hole opened under Banica's house. Banica and his wife disappeared without any trace. He had wonderful people, trees and other houses.

Banica had a baby boy. His name, Silvanija was, was trying to save him. After a few centuries, the name was so confused that she dropped the baby. On that very place, a bottomless lake appeared. Nobody ever saw the baby again.

Banica's daughter saw the whole world from the top of a hill. She came down to the lake and told her, "Don't leave him alone. The child will come back once the world becomes a better place." The boy of that time lived the town at the mouth of the river. They saved it Silvanija. They married and lived happily ever after.
